Abide With Me/Day by Day/Carry the Light (Home Ties Trilogy 1-3) (Steeple Hill Women's Fiction #40, 45 & 53) Delia Parr

Abide With Me (Trade Paperback): The three Long sisters of Welleswood, New Jersey felt they could handle any problem together...but suddenly each was facing the most critical challenge of her life. Andrea, a single mom, was in a fight for survival against cancer. Madge, who'd once lived a storybook life, needed to find forgiveness for a husband who'd kept a shocking secret for years. Jenny, pregnant with her third child, longed to keep her husband's dream alive, whatever the sacrifice. To get through it all, they would have to lean on one another as never before, trusting that their love and hope-and their faith, no matter how far it was tested-would see them through. Day by Day (Mass Market): Barbara lost her son, a single dad, to senseless violence. Judy's daughter fell into a black hole of addiction. Ginger's girl threw away motherhood for money, status and materialism. And the grandmothers had to pick up the pieces. Miraculously, they found one another, a mismatched trio with no common history, yet with so much to share. Together they found wisdom, strength and courage-and rediscovered the meaning of faith. Carry the Light (Mass Market): Ellie Waters usually juggled career, family and church commitments with ease. But when her mother fell ill, coping suddenly seemed overwhelmingly difficult. For help she looked to the past-and within her deepest self. Charlene Butler, wife, grandmother and businesswoman, was enjoying a bright, new chapter of her life. But her aunt Dorothy's medical crisis suddenly made Charlene wonder how solid the foundation of her world really was. On their journeys of discovery, these two very different women met, shared the burden of being caretakers, and in doing so, they became best friends. Together they laughed, prayed and found new strength and new depths to their faith.
