People are the product of their parents and the environment around them. They learn from both either right or wrong us as children are sponges soaking up what we come across. As we get older we learn by experiences and as older we get the more knowledge we require. The wisest person is the one who learns off someone else's experiences and mistakes. So I pray that this book will help you in your journey of life to help others with their knowledge in and for the right reasons and by other experiences. (Gods Way).
