Poems I Didn't Want to Write, Some Other Dreams Ibrahim Honjo

Honjo's poems are a revelatory personal experience, a wonderful journey to the core of the heart, where he gently and skillfully invites the reader to penetrate and to taste from the bitter-sweet nectar. Love takes the reader to a place that he understands is a dream within a dream, a reality within a reality, a blissful and desperate feeling, a sort of dual experience. The poet depicts beautiful images and evokes the true splendor of love, the happiness of meeting, the sadness of separation, the agony of longing and waiting, and the perfection of love in absence, the ongoing life without his beloved. He models his lover perfectly, the way he envisions her, the way he wants her to be, the way he dreams of her in lonely nights, in sleepless nights, in all her beauty and in all her perfection.
