Go Anyway: Sailing Around the World with Parkinson's Lyn Foley

Two California hippie artists watched enviously as elegant yachts cruised the waters of San Francisco Bay. A dream was born – they'd work just long enough to earn money to run away to sea. Eighteen years later, Lyn and Jim Foley sold everything — down to the last teacup — and moved aboard 40-foot Sanctuary. Then, just before they ventured under the Golden Gate Bridge to follow their dream 43-year-old Jim was diagnosed with Parkinson's disease. They decided to go anyway. Go Anyway tracks Jim and Lyn's ten-year adventure, logging more than 35,000 sea miles and 39 countries — from getting their sea legs, to the storms that tested their skills and perseverance, from languorous days savored in romantic tropical anchorages, to the hustle of foreign cities. And all the while, they battled the fierce foe that was Jim's illness, learning life lessons that can be appreciated by sailors and non-sailors alike. Go Anyway is a story of true grit, of warmth and laughter, and ultimately, of triumph over adversity.

John Starr:

As a college student exactly feel bored to reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library as well as to make summary for some e-book, they are complained. Just very little students that has reading's soul or real their interest. They just do what the trainer want, like asked to go to the library. They go to presently there but nothing reading very seriously. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is to become complicated. Book is very important for yourself. As we know that on this period, many ways to get whatever we really wish for. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Go Anyway: Sailing Around the World with Parkinson's can make you really feel more interested to read.
